

CERISE+SPTF

RAF Project

*Towards a Responsible
Agriculture and Food Sector*

Why promote a responsible agriculture and food sector?

Since the mid-2000s, Cerise+SPTF has been supporting a wide cross-section of social businesses from all over the world with the tools they need to achieve their social and environmental strategies.

Today, many factors make it necessary to work towards implementing more responsible practices in agriculture and food sector. Among others, climate change is making agriculture an extremely risky, potentially dangerous and loss-making endeavour for farmers.

What is the RAF Project?

Since 2022, Cerise+SPTF has been collaborating with a working group of partners to develop management tools that integrate responsible business conduct and client protection standards for agribusinesses. Stakeholders have shown a clear interest on the existing tools.

The RAF Project aims to facilitate exchanges between practitioners to fine-tune the added-value and positioning of these tools, adjust them based on the sector needs, and create a supportive environment to promote their use and support improvement of responsible practices.

Develop a suite of practical tools

Build local capacities

Disseminate resources

RAF Project Sponsorship Proposal

Silver Package

Support the working group's operations
(webinars and in-person sessions)

Benefits

- Enhanced visibility among an international audience
- Networking opportunity
- Representation at events

6,000 EUR

Gold Package

Support pilot tests in one country
(due-diligence or full audit with preparation and capitalization)

Extra Benefits

- Concrete impact in the field
- Dissemination of knowledge
- Promotion of responsible engagement

10,000 EUR

Platinum Package

Support tools' development
(feedback collection, tool improvement, translations, etc.)

Extra Benefits

- Strategic partnership
- Leading role in developing reference tools
- Long-term impact visibility

15,000 EUR

Complete the form and check the box "Support the project"

Support the project

CONTACT

Maxence Soulet: m.soulet@cerise-spm.org

Cécile Lapenu: c.lapenu@cerise-spm.org

They support the RAF Project

